Abstract. Based on the analysis of written sources, the article traces the construction of the Resurrection Cathedral of the New Jerusalem Monastery under Patriarch Nikon (1658-1666). The available data allow us to distinguish two independent stages in this period — 1658-1659 and 1662-1666, radically different in their concept and style.

Keywords. Patriarch Nikon, Cathedral of Resurrection, New Jerusalem monastery, Tsardom of Muscovy, medieval architecture, Russian architecture, Church architecture, Muscovite architecture
