

For citation: Isachenko T.A. Athos section of Archim. Leonid (Kavelin) in the Lavra library //

URL: http://rectors.altstu.ru/ru/periodical/archiv/2022/s/articles/2_2.pdf

DOI: 10.25712/ASTU.2410-485X.2022.00.006

UDK 094:271.2

ORCID: 0000-0002-1710-2340

ATHOS SECTION OF ARCHIM. LEONID (KAVELIN) IN THE LAVRA LIBRARY

T.A. Isachenko¹

¹ Russian State Library, Moscow, Russian Federation

Abstract. The article provides an overview of the Athos section "Inventory of the library of Archimandrite Leonid", stored in the RSE (F. 304/II. No.361), supplemented with materials of handwritten (F. 557) and archival (F. 148) funds, data of the accounting group. The main directions of the scientist's scientific research in the field of Athos studies are traced — the history of the Slavic monasteries of Mount Athos, the fate of the Slavic alphabet, the history of the Russian pilgrimage to Mount Athos. The new data make it possible to clarify and expand knowledge on a number of previously formulated issues. The latter include clarifying the dates of previously published Athos articles. The manuscript discovered in Iasi in 1698 — the autograph of the Greek nobleman John Komnenos Molivda in a tray copy to the head of the Metropolis—changes the idea of the time of the creation of the "Proskinitarium" published by Archim. Leonid in 1883.

Keywords: Athos, Slavic lands of the Balkan Peninsula, "Proskinitarian" by John Komnenos Molivda